

He Hītori o te Māori ki ngā Taumāhekeheke o te Ao

A history of Māori competing at the Olympic Games

The Olympics are spread over three sections:

Summer Olympic Games – starting in 1896 at Athens, Greece

Winter Olympics Games – starting in 1924 at Chamonix, France

Paralympic Games – starting in 1960 at Rome, Italy

E ngā mātāwaka o te motu, tenā Koutou katoa.

In promoting and recording Maori participation in the Olympics, we attempt through research to collate and record correct names and their Iwi, however there will be times when data collated is not correct, including athletes that have been missed off the list, please contact info@maorisportsawards.co.nz with any error or additions that need to be rectified correctly.

Tiki Garratt, CEO Maori Sports Awards

“A reminder to all, that the roots of our Aotearoa nation began before 1840 - and the fruits of our whakapapa tree continue to remind us that our sweetness comes from that diversity.”

Ta Tamati Reedy KNZM

New Zealanders first competed in the 1908 Summer Olympic Games in London as part of an 'Australasian' team.

The first Māori to compete at a Summer Olympic Games was in 1932 at the Los Angeles Olympics were John Hoani MacDonald and Lawrence Jumbo Jackson competing in the rowing eights.

Māori to date have won a total of fifteen gold medals, eight silver medals and six bronze medals.

At the Rio Māori had 43 athletes in the Summer Olympics (21.6%) and 7 Officials, 4 Māori in the Rio Paralympics, and 2 Maori representing Australia in the Summer Olympics.

Total Māori participation in this year's 2016 Rio Olympics and Paralympics is 56.
