E nga iwi, e nga reo, e nga karangarangatanga maha o nga hau e wha, nga mihi tino nui ki a koutou katoa.

It is indeed my pleasure and privilege as Chairman of Te Tohu Taakaro o Aotearoa Charitable Trust to express our Board's heartfelt gratitude to everyone who contributed to the success of the 2012 Trillian Trust Maori Sports Awards celebration held at the Telstra Pacific Events Centre, Manukau City and the Tamariki Sports and Cultural Day.

This event would have to be one of the most memorable in terms of the fact that it was held in the aftermath of the Olympic Games held in London at which many Maori athletes participated and performed with tremendous distinction. None more so than the eventual Albie Pryor Maori Sports person of the year, Lisa Carrington. What a wonderful role model for our youth.

To the many individuals, organizations, community and sporting leaders and people who have provided sponsorship, expert advice and guidance and also voluntary support our many, many thanks.

To my fellow Board members, nga mihi tino nui ki a koutou katoa, and to Dick and Desrae many thanks for another job well done.

Te Tama-ā-Tānenuiārangi

Tāne, the greatest son of Ranginui and Papatuanuku. Tane the bringer of daylight, the fountain of life to all living things, Tane the beginning, Tane the source of knowledge, Tane who discovered Te Ira Tangata and created the ongoing generations of mankind. It was Tane also who committed the first sin and right until this time has caused the imbalance between man and woman.

The greatest sportsman has to be called the Son of Tane, it is that person who manifests excellence in the male being.

Senior Māori Sportswoman

Hineahuone

When Tane began life for all living things he searched in vain for a way to perpetuate life in his form. He was sent by the spiritual beings to a place called Kurawaka where the soil was red and fertile. From Papatuanuku's loins he fashioned in the earth the form of a woman and he breathed life into her – she was first human being – she was Hineahuone, Hine who comes from the Earth. Tane mated with her and begat Hinetitama. Hineahuone is acknowledged as the ultimate human eponymous ancestor for all genealogies, she is the spring of humankind or the ultimate woman.

It is for this reason that the Māori Sportswoman should be named in the spirit of an illustrious beginning, she is truly ultimate.

Te Tama-ā-Ranginui

Ranginui was the Sky Father who was separated from the Earth Mother – Papatuanuku by Tane who was to be their greatest son. Ranginui symbolises the male line and even Tane was later to be renamed great Tane of Rangi. Ranginui is the Maori symbol for the beginning and together with Papatuanuku they are the Maori genesis. Even today Papatuanuku is acknowledged on all occasions when Maori gather, she is the mother, she fees life into all living things, plant and animal, there is no beginning beyond the Earth Mother.

It is appropriate that the junior sportspersons both boy and girl should carry of Ranginui and Papatuanuku. They are the seeds from which men and women grow.

Ngā Ika a Whiro

When Tāne ascended up to the heavens to seek “Ngā Kete o te Wananga” (the baskets of knowledge), his older brother Whiro was furious; he considered he had more right to the task than Tāne. So Whiro sent plagues of insects, reptiles and birds to attack Tāne, which complicated his task; but with the assistance of Tawhiri-mātea (god of the winds), he was able to continue until he arrived at the summit of the heavens. On his return expedition, Whiro and his plague again attacked Tāne; when he finally reached earth, Whiro insisted that he should be the custodian of the treasures.

Tāne with his supporters rejected his demands so Whiro was eventually exiled to the underworld where he still dwells, and continually endeavors to wreak havoc for the gods and mankind.

Te Toi Huarewa

Disabled Māori Sportsperson

Te Toi Huarewa

It was Toi himself (the supreme being) who sent forth his sacred messengers Apa Whatukura from Te Toi a Rangi the uppermost heaven to see who could climb the heavens in search of knowledge. Both Whiro and Tane responded to the challenge, but only Tane was successful. The reason that Tane was successful was that he chose to climb by the routes Te Toi Huarewa and Te Aratiatia, accordingly, he reached Tikitiki o Rangi and was given “Ngā Kete o te Wananga” the sacred baskets of knowledge and the sacred stones of education. The name Te Toi Huarewa has been chosen for the award to sportsperson with a disability. In order to achieve success Te Toi Huarewa signifies whanau support, diligence and dedication. Furthermore, the prize at the end of this pathway is knowledge, understanding and great achievement.

Te Aratiatia

Overcoming all odds as Tāne did with his elder brother Whiro, to ascend the heavens by way of Te Toi Huarewa and Te Aratiatia; to acquire "Ngā Kete o te Wananga" and the sacred stones of education.

Therefore Te Aratiatia denotes the extremely unique battles that Umpires and referees have to tolerate with players in a chosen sport. They have to be vigilant within the decisions they make and passionate in the way they deliver those decisions.

Māui Tikitiki-ā-Taranga

Maui was the youngest child of Hine Taranga hence the name Maui top knot of Taranga. Maui was renowned for many extraordinary supernatural deeds, he brought fire to mankind from Mahuika's fingernails, he fished up the North Island using the Matika- special fishhook made from the jawbone of his grandmother Murirangawhenua, Maui slowed down the sun to give us a 24 hour day, Maui was magical and mysterious. Maui was both brave and frivolous, Maui was a gambler, he took on all odds.

It is appropriate therefore that the trophy of Maui is awarded to the Sports Administrator since the administrator has to do battle on all fronts, requires a repertoire of talent and devices in order to be successful.
