VODAFONE WARRIORS UNVEIL 'TANGAROA'

Auckland, New Zealand, November 19, 2014 –

Introducing 'Tangaroa', the sparkling jersey the Vodafone Warriors will unleash at the second Dick Smith NRL Auckland Nines at Eden Park in Auckland on January 31 and February 1 next year.

The Canterbury of New Zealand kit for the Nines extravaganza was officially unveiled today, the design named after and paying homage to Tangaroa, the Maori god of the ocean.

Vodafone Warrior Tuimoala Lolohea, who represented the club at the inaugural NRL Nines this year, was excited about the new kit after modelling it at a Canterbury of New Zealand photo shoot today.

"I like it. It's a nice design and a really cool looking jersey," he said.

"It was great playing in the Nines this year and I'd love to have the chance to wear this strip again at the tournament next year."

The strip features the paua shell, chosen to represent Aotearoa (New Zealand); the paua is held in high regard by Maori as a taonga (or treasure) from Tangaroa.

Designer Dave Burke said the paua shell's colours represent something unique and vibrant, therefore capturing the competition and spirit of the NRL Nines.

Emerging from the chest of the jersey is the club's traditional tiki, defiant and ready for the challenge that lies ahead.

The mangotipi (white pointer shark) design on the body of the jersey reflects movement, speed and travelling. Sharks also represent strength, determination and power, all of which are attributes of a warrior.

Jerseys will be available from early December in adults' and kids' sizes. Shorts will be available in adults' sizes only.

I am gutted that I will be unable to attend this Saturday's 24th Maori Sports Awards at the Vodafone Events Centre, as I am away celebrating my 49th wedding anniversary with my wife, Lady Janice. Especially as my close mate, Stacey Jones ONZM and another good bloke, Phillip Tataurangi, will be inducted into the Maori Sports Hall of Fame. These Maori Sports Awards are great nights, founded by my late great mate and fellow butcher, Albie Pryor, with the best in Maori entertainment and cultural performances, as well celebrating Maori sporting success, with over 28 Maori World champions, and an amazing range of quality finalists. After our awesome Kiwis win, Stephen Kearney and some of the boys must be in the running for next year's 25th anniversary Maori Sports Awards.

SCHOOL VOLLEYBALL FESTIVAL NEXT WEEK

One of New Zealand's biggest school sporting festival's hits off on Monday 24th November when 136 secondary school volleyball teams take to the court in Wellington and Invercargill for the North and South Island Junior Secondary School Volleyball Championships.

In Wellington, eighty-seven teams take part in the North Island Championships at the ASB Sports Centre in Kilbirnie, for students from Years 9 and 10.

Held for the first time for many years in Invercargill, the South Island Championships include forty-nine teams playing at the brand new Stadium Southland.

The North Island Championships again feature teams from the strong Auckland and Bay of Plenty regions in the top seeded positions, with an almost even split between these regions for the top sixteen rankings in the boys' and girls' sections.

The top Girl's seed is Tauranga's always-strong Otumoetai College, who have just taken out the Bay of Plenty Championship, with challenges expected to come from Auckland Champions Westlake Girls High, last year's popular North Island winners Manurewa High, and Bay of Plenty runners-up Tauranga Girls College.

Leading the North Island Boys' section are Auckland Champions Rangitoto College, with the Aucklanders likely to be challenged by the country's most successful school, Rotorua's Western Heights High, who last week won the Bay of Plenty Championship. Also challenging in the Boys will be Rangitoto's strong North Harbour neighbours Orewa College and 2103 Island champions Westlake Boys, along with the up and coming Manurewa and Trident (Whakatane) High sides.

In the South Island, a similar two-way split in the Girls' section has Tasman's Waimea College and Nelson College for Girls leading the hunt for top honours against Canterbury's Riccarton and Aranui High Schools, while three Tasman Boys' teams – Waimea and Nelson Colleges, and Marlborough Boys High will face one major Christchurch opponent in Burnside High. Edging into the Boy's top eight rankings are Dunedin's Bayfield High and Timaru Boys High, the only 'outsiders' seemingly in with a chance.

MĀORI SPORTS HALL OF FAME HONOURS LEAGUE AND GOLF LEGENDS

Legendary sports stars, rugby league player Stacey Jones and golfer Philip Tataurangi, will be inducted into the Māori Sports Hall of Fame, Te Whare Mātāpuna o te Ao Māori, at the National Māori Sports Awards later this year (Saturday 29 November 2014).

Stacey William Jones ONZM (Ngāti Maniapoto, Ngāpuhi) is widely regarded as the best New Zealand player of his generation.

The 38-year-old played 46 tests for the Kiwis from 1995 to 2006 – six tests as captain in 2002 and 2006 – and made a club record 261 NRL appearances. He also holds the record for most points (674) during his 12 seasons with the Vodafone Warriors.

Stacey is also a finalist in the Māori Sports Coach of the Year award.

Philip Mikaera Tataurangi (Ngāti Kahungunu) was the leading individual among a quartet of young men who became the first New Zealand team to win the world amateur Eisenhower Trophy in Canada in 1992.

Highlights of Tataurangi's professional career included winning the 1996 Australian PGA Championship and the 2002 Invensys Classic on the PGA Tour. He is currently patron of the New Zealand branch of The First Tee, a charity which promotes character development in youth through golf.

A world-class field of finalists will vie for top honours in 10 categories at this year's National Māori Sports Awards to be held at the Vodafone Events Centre in Manukau on Saturday 29 November.

Set up to foster, promote and encourage Māori sports people in the pursuit of excellence, Te Tohu Taakaro o Aotearoa was founded by the late Albie Pryor with Te Arikinui Dame Te Atairangikaahu as Patron and Sir John Turei as Kaumātua.

Nominations close on 31 October 2014. More information is on the website www.maorisportsawards.co.nz

DOWN IN INVERCARGILL

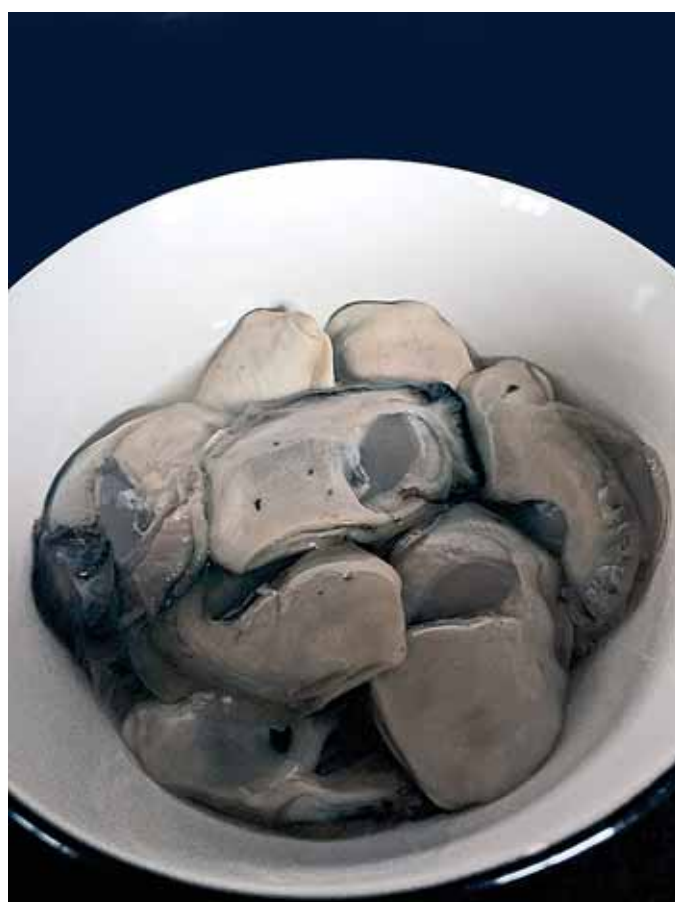

My favourite place to stay in Invercargill.

My host Paula put on a magnificent lunch in Invercargill.

Rewi, my host, carving the Mad Butcher leg of lamb.

Stewart Island oysters.

Stewart Island smoked salmon.

How's this for a feed of crayfish for lunch?

Whitebait fritters. Lovely!

Three former Southland halfbacks at a wonderful function in Invercargill. Jimmy Cowan, Bobby Murrell and Murray Heath, enjoying a fundraising night at Buster Crabs Invercargill.

Chee & Lanz, the recipients of the charity dinner in Invercargill last night.

Just been presented with team photo & training shirt for SOUTHLAND RAMS from chairperson Cheryl Officer, for all the support and promotional work I gave the team. Do me a favour check out their website www.sdrl.co.nz and Facebook page.

The fundraiser last night was for a young lady called Alana. She is 31 year old mum who was diagnosed with an incurable cancer called carcinoid syndrome. The money raised is going to fund her treatment in Australia, which will give here a longer life. We raised over $20,000 on the night, which I thought was FANTASTIC!

Sir Peter Leitch
By Elizabeth Flatley BK6

I was flattered to be the subject of a presentation by a young lady by the name of Elizabeth who lives in Bendigo, Victoria, Australia.

Elizabeth said: "I chose Sir Peter Leitch because he really inspired me as a role model. He shows that with a rough beginning of life you can always bring out the good in things and make a brand new fresh start. With being rewarded sometimes with little things can help us learn to give instead of take for ourselves. Sir Peter showed me this in his work with charities...."

Thanks for those kind words, Elizabeth!

How did these Characteristics lead them to perform prophetic acts.

I chose Sir Peter Leitch because he shows that with a rough beginning of life you can always bring out the good in things and make a brand new fresh start. With being rewarded sometimes with little things can help us learn to give instead of take for ourselves. Sir Peter showed me this in his work with charities which is detailed in his book "What a ride, Mate!"

Biography of Sir Peter Leitch

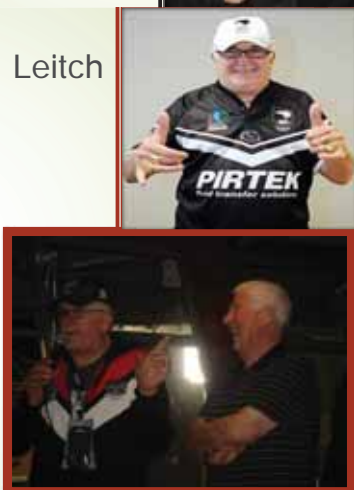

Sir Peter Leitch
One of New Zealand's most awarding, inspirational leaders, Sir Peter Leitch was born on the 8th May 1944 and had a disadvantaged childhood growing up, at secondary school he was diagnosed with dyslexia. He left school at the age of 15 and gained a job as an butchers apprenticeship, and soon after turned 16 he later moved to Auckland to continue his work as a Butcher.

After the move in 1971 he opened a butchery in Mangere East, Auckland, a friend of his suggested radio advertising, later when that began he said he recalled someone in a pub referring to him as "That Mad Butcher" and since then he was advertising his butchery all over New Zealand as "The home of the Mad Butcher"

In 2012 his Butchery chain "The Mad Butcher" had become very popular and made around 36+ stores across New Zealand.

He is well known for his support to Charity's across New Zealand and his passion for the New Zealand Warriors, Rugby League club.

He has given endless time and support to help others in need and with charity's, an example of this is at the start of June this year he gave my Grandad and my family a wonderful experience of going to see the New Zealand Warriors Rugby team play by watching it in the corporate box with some legendary players from the past. This was a unforgettable moment seeing my Grandparents so happy seen as they lost there house in the Christchurch Earthquake of 2010 and my Grandfather had suffered a heart attack due to stress.

Characteristics of Sir Peter Leitch

Turning Points

- A turning point for Sir Peter Leitch was when he was cleaning out a car park of which they used for a charity with his butcher, when someone said to him you should do this more over Peter your helping us gain heaps of money for the charities.
- Peter took up that opportunity and has helped with Charity's and working with people ever since, He helped with the Christchurch Earthquake in New Zealand in 2011 when a terrifying earthquake hit the city. Sir Peter has been an advocate for the earthquake affected people of Christchurch and often uses his advertising to remind the public.
